LORD CONNEMARA AND THE SIRDARS. QUETTA, 18th October. At a durbar of Khang and Sirlars, of Khalat, Peshin, and the surrounding country, after each gentleman was presented, Lord Connemars made a short speech, which Sir Robert Sandeman translated into Hindustani. The Governor said it gave him great pleasure to make the Sirdars' acquaintance. He had only come as a private individual, travelling to see them, and their country, but, as the representative of the Queen in Southern India, he was glad to see merchants from Cabul and the neighbouring country who came to trade as far south as Cape Comorin. Such visitors could not fail to observe the peace and quiet of Southern India. This resulted from, and was an ever-present incident of British rule. This his hearers had had means of proving for themselves. Sirder Acad Khan, reply ing on behalf of the Sirders, soid that for four tren years this district had been benefited by Fritish rule, to which its inhabitants were at tached and lovel, and he thanked the Governor for his kind expressions towards them After this the Governor observed that the Queen's representative, the Vicercy, would soon be among them, and would doubtless be glad to hear these loyal sentimenta.
